

Snyder Real Estate Group

How it Began

First, a little about me. I started in real estate in 1999, and spent my first 10 years working for various big brokers. When the recession hit I moved to a foreclosure brokerage and ran a large office covering Norther California. At this point I knew I could run an office, so in 2012 I got my Brokers license and decided to hang my own shingle. I decided to take all the best practices I have learned along the way and implement them in my new office! As the brokerage has grown I continue grow with the industry, making changes that fit the needs and practices of our agents, clients and community.
